Winter Retreats In Korea

Our Canadian soldiers, equipped to withstand rugged winter conditions, may not have enjoyed the adverse winter weather in Korea. But we dare to say they have had a better time of it than the ill-fed, ill-clothed Chinese Communists.

Now, however, with the retreat of Old Man Winter a new set of circumstances face our Canadian boys. There will be spring rain, thaws and mud. There will be summer dust and heat. The Chinese soldiers who can fight day in and day out on a few mouthfuls of rice a day will be better able to fight, with the dread of freezing cold behind for another year.

Winter is retreating—but what about the Communists? Will they, too, fall behind the 38th parallel?

The Easter Story

When Jesus Christ, who proclaimed to the world that he was the Divine Son of God, died, he did so in the eyes of the world not as a good person, but as a criminal. He did not die a natural death, but voluntarily surrendered His Spirit while suffering the agonies of Roman crucifixion.

The One who had done only good in His lifetime was rejected by the religious and temporal leaders of His day. Six hundred years before His birth, the prophet Isaiah had foretold His trial, His Crucifixion and His death in almost minute detail. As prophesied, He was taken from judgment, nailed to the Cross, and died a death of "agonies and shame".

The Christian faith, however, does not hang on the mere death of their leader. In dying, Jesus Christ performed the great miracle of Salvation, the very rock and cornerstone of our religion. Having willingly died in the stead of every sinner who accepts Him as his Saviour, Jesus then rose again by Divine power on the first Easter Sunday, triumphant over sin, death and the grave.

This, in short, is the story of Easter.

Winter Wheat Crop

Up until the end of last week the United States winter wheat crop appeared to be in fair condition. Rainfall extended from western Texas to the Great Lakes, good moisture being reported from southern Kansas, Oklahoma, and Texas, offsetting drought fears. Northwestern Kansas was missed by the rainstorm.

Early this month, the Canadian west was swept by blizzardlike snow storms and sub-zero temperatures. The cold and snow extended well into the United States but it is not known yet whether such conditions reached the winter wheat belt. Much of the acreage there is in a vulnerable condition.

State Medicine

The issue of government hospitalization schemes has been one of the most controversial to arise in recent times.

In Saskatchewan the CCF provincial government has instituted its form of state medicine. In British Columbia the Coalition government has a compulsory health insurance plan. In the United States the medical profession is vigorously fighting a proposed nation-wide state hospitalization plan. Britain has become the spotlight of world attention with its government medical scheme. The Scandinavian countries have for years had state medicine.

It is interesting to note that while we hear a great deal from the critics about Saskatchewan's hospitalization plan, little is said by the critics about B.C.'s scheme, which has been a distinct failure.

Last year the government went $12 millions in the red on the plan, and this year the rates are being boosted to $35.00 per year. Not only that, you have to pay for the first 10 days of hospitalization yourself.

It looks as if the Coalitionists in B.C. are not doing so well in their attempts to steal the thunder of the CCF.

The Newspaper Columns

By RAYMOND ARGYLE

It seems that we in the newspaper business are forever getting into trouble with our readers over news items with which our readers disagree.

A great many people seem to think that when we publish a news story dealing with some controversial issue, or containing the comment of some individual, it automatically follows that we support that person's comment.

Other people think we shouldn't print any letters in 'The Voice of the People' which is contrary to their own opinions.

Raymond Argyle

That this is so, leads us to believe that a lot of people don't understand just what freedom of the press really means. Freedom of the press means that we have the right to publish our own opinions on the editorial page, and the right to publish news of the day reflecting the opinions and events of the entire community on the news pages.

I recommend the following passages to anyone who has had cause to curse this paper because it printed the opinion of someone with whom he disagreed. It is an editorial from the Powell River, B.C. News, and came to us via the Canadian Weekly Editor:

"It seems strange to find in these enlightened days there is still a fairly large number of people who fail to distinguish between the functions of the news and editorial columns of a newspaper.

As a result, because we carry a news story in which some person or organization takes a stand either for or against some project, it is often assumed the paper shares the same policy. This is far from being correct.

The news columns of the paper are reserved for reports of interest to people of the district. In these columns every effort is made to confine reports to a chronicle of actual happenings, regardless of the policy of the newspaper, the opinions of the person writing the story, the editor or the publisher.

Often, too, there are people enquiring as to the cost of having certain items of news published. Not only is there no charge for the publication of items, but space in the news columns cannot be purchased.

People who have something they wish to have publicized which is not regarded by the editor as news are referred to the advertising department. And, if they wish their advertisement in the form of a "reader" then it is clearly labelled "Advt." so that readers will know it is not an unbiased report by the paper.

On the other hand, the opinions of the paper and its policy are expressed on the editorial page. Here again, there is considerable misunderstanding about how the policy of a newspaper is formed.

The policy of a newspaper on any particular question does not of necessity reflect the personal views of either the publisher, editor or any other member of the staff. Rather, it is drafted by an impartial viewing of the question involved by several people to decide what stand is best in the community interest and could quite conceivably not coincide with the personal viewpoint of any of those who chart the newspaper's stand.

It would be unnatural if we were always right in our opinion or if our point of view was always acceptable to everyone. On either count, we don't expect to hit anywhere near a perfect average. In order that a balance may be struck, our columns are always open to those who wish to write and disagree with us. We do, in fact, welcome opposing opinions since there will always be differences of opinion and it makes for a healthy situation when members of the community are fully informed of both sides of any controversial issue in which it is likely to be affected."

Note and Comment

What has become of all the disasters that were to strike this country if the national debt got three-fourths of its present size?

The small boy who used to fake a toothache to stay away from school now has a small boy who wonders why his daddy is "too sick" to work like other men.

Before the campaign next year we suggest that somebody get up a poll to see if anybody takes the polls seriously.

Just ten years ago, by the way, Herr Hitler was assuring the world that the British would be conquered.

Those who make a success of life know that schemes do not take the place of hard work and intelligent effort.

As the United Nations continue to drive against the Communists, one belligerent is fighting a losing battle — Old Man Winter! Whether the fighting trim of the well equipped Canadian and American soldiers is superior to the Chinese in winter or summer weather is up until now an academic question. Unless peace is negotiated, it will be decided in the heat and dust of summer, after Old Man Winter has retreated from the scene.

Dear Sir — Yes, I feel sorry for the poor barbers, crying poverty and saying they're still not getting enough for their haircuts and shaves. But if they're so unhappy, why don't they get real jobs, at hard work and for wages. The reason, of course, is that only barbers can lounge around most of the day, sleeping and playing mandolins in their big chairs, waiting for more suckers to pour money into their paws. They've got a regular Utopia, I'd say.

Feed The Monkeys

Dear Sir — India is short of food due to the destruction caused by 20 million roaming sacred monkeys, and drought, and for centuries has been burying large hoards of gold. But Ottawa has decided to support this God Monkeyism by giving India $25,000,000 of prairie wheat — your wheat and mine — at $1.80 per bushel.

Why can't India dig up some of the buried gold in payment? Or is India not the only sanctuary of apes — does Canada also have one — kept for the purpose of harassing us poor farmers? Meanwhile, keep working hard. The monkeys must be fed.

Answers Athiest

Dear Sir — In your paper "An Atheist Writes" that previous letters "manifest the true Christian attitude," that attitude, apparently being one of intolerance, bigotry, and the desire to suppress by intimidation all viewpoints contrary to the Christian philosophy.

It will of course be quite obvious to anyone who has had even a cursory study of the teachings of Jesus, that the above is not the true Christian attitude, even though a number of professing Christians may appear to adopt that attitude.

Mr. McNeely also states that Christians will not tolerate any criticism of the Bible. This is passing strange, as history records that no other book ever compiled has been subject to such keen analytical criticism as the Bible; and with what result?

Today it out-runs any kind of competitor in the literary field as a best seller, and moreover has inspired a higher level of art, music and poetry than any other book could possibly do.

Three Cheers!

Dear Sir — It seems that community reporter to the paper are often a source for ridicule for the reader because of some mistake. I say three cheers for the local correspondent!

Wants Price Controls

Dear Sir — Prime Minister St. Laurent says the country doesn't need price controls now. I've talked to a lot of people, both businessmen and workers, and they all say they want price controls.

The policy of our present government is, instead of putting on price controls, to reduce the buying power of the public through higher taxes, rising cost of living and curtailment of credit buying and bank loans. This, they say, will make surpluses which eventually will mean lower prices. In other words they are deliberately setting out to lower our standard of living, and if this ridiculous plan is permitted to continue for any length of time, we will find ourselves in a state similar to the Chinese peasant who gets barely enough to keep life and body together.

Alberta's Wealth Growing As Industrial Boom Continues

Alberta has become one of the richest provinces in Canada. From a poverty stricken depression low, Alberta has prospered and grown and now ranks high on the list of the "have" provinces in Canada.

The new story of Alberta's wealth is most clearly written in the provincial government budget for 1951-52 which will swing into operation at the end of this month.

The province estimates government expenditures during the fiscal year will top the $105,000,000 mark — compared to the "firs Social Credit" budget of $17,000,000 in 1936.

Alberta's present secure position is the result of two factors — wartime prosperity and the post-war industrial expansion and oil boom. Alberta cashed in on both of them.

During the next year the major item of government financing will be the aid to municipalities scheme which will cut property taxes in probably every Alberta municipality.

MONEY FROM FUEL OIL TAX

Money to pay for the Municipal Assistance Act will come from revenue from fuel oil tax — 40 per cent of this income will be turned over to the municipalities.

Municipalities will receive an estimated $4,665,000 under the deal.

The scheme is designed not only to give the municipalities additional revenue, but to cut the tax burden on property owners.

Each municipality will receive a grant of six mills to its revenue. For instance, if a municipality's mill rate is 52 mills, the government's grant will be equal in cash to another six mills, giving it the same revenue as would be obtained from a 58 mill rate.

However, to qualify the municipality must reduce its mill rate by three mills. The municipality will still have three mills of additional revenue, and the property owners will receive a sizable reduction in taxation.

If any municipality refuses to reduce its mill rate, the grant that it would otherwise have received will be divided among all municipalities.

Other legislation contained in the budget will affect Albertans in several ways once it goes into effect at the end of this month.

A fund of $50,000 has been set aside to promote civil defence, car license fees are being reduced up to $15 per vehicle, the annual business license fee which has netted the government $130,000 annually in the past is being abolished, the gasoline tax is being increased a cent a gallon and oil revenue for the year is estimated at $25,000,000.

Will Arrest Red Leaders In Event of World War

An unsigned warrant for the arrest of Communist Leader Tim Buck and a draft order-in-council outlawing his Labor Progressive Party are ready in Ottawa in the event of "any appreciable worsening of relations with Russia," Editor Ralph Allen writes in the current issue of Maclean's.

Buck is known to thousands throughout Alberta through his many public appearances here.

"If Canada should fight and lose a war with Russia within the next 10 years," Allen writes in an article The Case History of Comrade Buck, "the leading aspirant to the job of Canada's first dictator will be . . . this leader for 21 years of Canada's 12,000 Communists and their 40 to 50 thousand fellow travellers.

"Buck is one of the few old pros of the movement who has consistently withstood the danger of destruction from inside the Party and, next to Stalin himself, he has a longer record of unbroken command than the leader of any other national Communist Party."

Buck's salary from the Party has never exceeded $55 a week during a career which has included three years in Kingston penitentiary in the early 1930's for preaching the forcible overthrow of the Canadian government, two years underground in the early 1940's to circulate propaganda against Canada's participation in the war and six trips to Moscow.

THE EASTER STORY

When Jesus Was Tried

When the first rays of sunshine came over the Judean hills on that first Easter morning, the tomb was empty. And this weekend, nearly 2,000 years later, the world of Christendom celebrates once again the crucifixion and resurrection of Jesus Christ.

The events that preceded the crucifixion of Jesus are clouded in antiquity, but it can be factually stated that His trial, the greatest in Christendom, is the least known and probably the least understood.

Not until centuries had passed did mankind realize the enormity of the crime committed in that fateful week. For at the time the fate of Jesus was of paramount importance only to His followers; the event did not appear to warrant a place in the writings of contemporary historians.

Today the impact of the crucifixion has established itself into a world-wide consciousness. Time has given us the proper perspective to view it as one of the most important events in the history of civilization.

Continued interest focuses attention on interesting sidelights of the event. Was the trial of Jesus in Hebrew and Roman courts legal? Was Jesus arrested on a warrant? Of what offence was He charged and on what evidence was He convicted?

It is impossible to adequately establish the course of an event 2,000 years gone by. But from the Bible, and from other ancient records imparting general background information, a pattern of events does emerge.

It appears from ancient records that restlessness among the Jews in Palestine and the precariousness of Roman rule had caused the Empire considerable anxiety in the past. Roman agents were on the lookout for signs of a rebellious uprising and when the enthusiastic follower of Jesus proclaimed Him 'King of the Jews', the matter was serious enough to warrant the immediate attention of Rome.

JEALOUS PRIESTS

The Jewish priests were of course jealous of Christ's following, and the Roman authorities were convinced they could end the expense of constantly investigating and watching the Christ movement by removing the leader of the is so-called new political faction.

When Jesus entered Jerusalem a few days before the annual feast of the passover plans were already well afoot to deal decisively with this 'menace' and a warrant was already in the hands of the officials. Jesus had just completed a long and successful tour of the hinterlands and had entered the city for the purpose of carrying out the culminating phases of His life.

The authorities realized that an attempt to arrest Jesus in public while preaching or performing His miracles could result in mob violence. It was therefore decided to arrest Him outside Jerusalem, when accompanied by but a few of His followers. Someone was needed who could identify Jesus at a distance. Judas was willing to act as an informer for the bribe that was offered him.

The soldiers of Rome followed the directions of Judas and came upon Jesus in the Garden of Gethsemane, where He was conferring with His disciples. It was early evening and there Jesus was arrested.

Jesus was apparently arrested on a perfectly legal warrant issued by Caiaphas, High Priest and Chief Justice of Israel, who had been making regular reports to Rome regarding the activities of Jesus.

UNJUST AND UNLAWFUL

Jesus was thus seized and taken before the Hebrew court for the first of His two trials. There, the principal charge against Jesus seems to have been that of blasphemy against the established order, and it is clear that the whole proceedings were not only unjust but completely unlawful.

They were unlawful in that the trial was held after the commencement of the feast of the passover—when courts were forbidden to meet. The trial itself was unjust because the Sanhedrin of Judges formally predetermined that Jesus was guilty, conduct fatal to the validity of a conviction.

Caiaphas, moreover, obviously violated Jewish precedents because of no charge could Jesus be proved guilty by the necessary testimony of two agreeing witnesses. Jesus was actually convicted on His own testimony of being the Son of God, which no witness gave testimony and no investigation was made.

Such utter lack of evidence seems to have merely strengthened the court's determination to persecute Jesus. Had it been able, the court would have no doubt ordered His immediate execution, but under Roman law the Jewish court lacked the authority to pronounce the death sentence.

It was now early morning and the court ordered Jesus bound up and delivered to Pilate, administrator of Roman provincial law in that part of the Empire. Here a charge comparable to high treason was laid by the Jewish priests. So that the Roman court would hear the charge the accusers complained that Jesus was 'One Who Set Himself up as King Against Caesar'.

PILATE RELUCTANT

Pilate appears to have been extremely reluctant to press the charge, while he apparently knew nothing of the previous trial, he was skeptical of the legality of the warrant and feared that criticism would result and his own position be placed in jeopardy.

Pilate was satisfied with Jesus' explanation that His Kingship was of another world, and had he had his way, he would have given Jesus His freedom.

Thrice Pilate voiced his belief that Jesus was not guilty, and went so far as to suggest that He be given amnesty, as it was custom during the annual feasts to bestow freedom on some person charged with a crime.

The hostile crowd, stirred up by the priests, angrily denounced this suggestion. Instead they cried for the release of Barabbas, a revolutionist who was awaiting trial on charges of sedition and murder. They called out for the crucifixion of Jesus—a method of execution reserved only for the most dangerous.

It was the final and clever threat of the Jewish accusers which broke Pilate's determination: 'If thou let this man go thou are not Caesar's friend' (John: 19:12). The emperor would not understand that Christ's kingship was not of this world; he, Pilate, would be called to Rome and forced to commit suicide in atonement for his offence.

And so Pilate yielded. Without rescinding his verdict of not guilty, he gave sentence that it should be as they required. Barabbas was released and Jesus was turned over to the mob of accusers and personal enemies, to be taken away and crucified. —R.A.

SURE SIGN OF SPRING is this view of pretty girl and two new-born lambs. Nature seems to be unaware that spring is slow in Northern Alberta this year. Whether the two lambs know it is another thing.

Sex Life Around World Has Varied Moral Codes

Sex life and practices of human societies throughout the world are revealed in a new book entitled "Patterns of Sexual Behavior".

According to the book, almost all sex practices branded wrong by North Americans are considered normal by some other human societies.

The book was written by two Yale University professors, Dr. C. S. Ford and Dr. F. A. Beach. Publishers are Harper and Bros.

Their book is a kind of expanded Kinsey report, comparing 190 different human societies over the world, and sex practices among animals from apes to mice.

MEN CAN HAVE MANY WIVES

A man can have more than one wife in about 80 per cent of these other societies. "If he can arrange to do so." But in half of them, the man as a rule has just one wife.

A woman can have extra husbands in two groups, the Toda of India and the Marquesans of Polynesia. It's preferred that she does.

As for sex appeal, there are "few if any universal standards." But in a majority of societies, the plump woman rather than the slim one is more attractive.

Their book is a fact-finding study to give a more intelligent insight into human sexuality, Drs. Ford and Beach said, with no attempt to moralize.

The study includes animals in order to learn what habits or urges might be considered due to man's evolutionary heritage or biology. Practices common among animals as well as among human beings may be suspected of being due to biological make-up.

They report some things appear to have such a biological or hereditary basis.

HOMOSEXUAL TENDENCIES

One is tendencies to homosexuality, which "appear to exist in a large majority of both sexes, though they may not be recognized and although overt homosexual behavior may not occur." Another tendency is that of self-stimulation.

The human being's brain is

GOVT TO PROBE TWIN MOVIE BILLS

Alberta government has promised to investigate whether motion picture theatres are showing double features billed as "entertainment for the entire family" when one feature is an adult picture and the other a family one.

Hon. C. E. Gerhart, provincial secretary, whose office is in charge of movie censorship, told F. C. Colborne, Social Credit, Calgary, that he would see that theatres do not mix adult and family pictures on double bills.

All movies in Alberta, from comic cartoons to full length features, are censored by the provincial government.

more important than his hormones in directing sex behavior, they add.

A woman can have satisfactory sex relations even without hormones from her ovaries, and for men "castration" does not mean loss of sexual power.

Probably, say Drs. Ford and Beach, most women who are frigid or sexually unresponsive are that way because of the emotional effects of their training, and not because of abnormal physical conditions.

WARNING TO MOTORISTS

TORONTO—Motorists who may be involved in an accident which brings live wires tumbling about their cars, are advised by Wills MacLachlan, of the Electrical Employers' Association of Ontario, to sit and await rescue rather than attempt to leave their vehicles and risk death by electrocution.

Slow Goodbye

Something's just got to be done about the departures of railway trains.

In movies or in books when a guy is going away the scene at the station is short and dramatic. The conductor calls out "All Aboard!" Man kisses his loved ones. Says something emotional, which he has been saving for the occasion. Swings neatly aboard his Pullman. Waves at the receding figures while (in movies) the sound track begins playing "Beyond the Blue Horizon."

Now let us see how it works in real life.

On arrival at the train your loved ones decide to come into the Pullman with you for the goodbye ceremony and to inspect your quarters. They are barely aboard when the porter approaches and says "Train's leaving now." There is a great rush for the door. Everybody shouts goodbye, have a good time, don't forget to write, be sure to wear your long underwear and such last-minute advice. You kiss as many as possible.

When they have reached the platform you stand upon the car's steps, conscious of the dramatic figure you are making. Everybody smiles fondly up at you, a look which begins to fade as soon as it becomes apparent that the train has not yet made up its mind to carry you mercifully into the night.

FROZEN WRETCHES

You step down to the platform, within leaping distance of the steps, and are immediately engulfed once more by the delegation who begin bravely repeating their earlier remarks. They little realize—poor frozen wretches!—that their ordeal has hardly begun.

When it seems possible you're going to spend the rest of your days on the platform, that familiar, ever exciting shout is heard. "All Aboard!" You kiss every one again (including a baggage-man who somehow got mixed up with your party), vault to the steps, wave, enter the car and take your seat.

Now comes one of the worst parts. Your loved ones gather below your window and begin waving and shouting. You shrug to indicate you cannot hear. You press your nose against the window and they all laugh. Oh, you are a great comic! And this it! You are away! Goodby, goodbye!

The train does not move.

Finally, having exhausted your supply of grimaces, you return once more to the steps and to the platform again.

The train, itself, has begun ejecting steam, hissing noises each of which causes you to spring nimbly for the steps.

TOP SECRET PLANS MADE FOR DEFENCE OF NORTHWEST

The drive is on to transform the Canadian Northwest into a bristling arsenal of defence. Top level discussions, shrouded in the greatest possible secrecy, have been going on in Ottawa for the past several weeks.

Basic link in the defence plan is a Canadian-American radar network.

It will be an over-all network, as the idea of giving complete, detailed protection through radar has been written off because of the prohibitive cost.

Certain Areas Will Get Protection

That means that certain areas must be singled out for priority protection and that there must be gaps elsewhere. It is no secret that first priority in Canada is going to what might roughly be called the Montreal-Toronto-Ottawa area and in the United States to the great industrial areas of the east and mid-west, including cities like New York, Pittsburgh, Detroit, Cleveland and Chicago.

Again, a vital reason for Canada's caution is that the geography of North America makes this country a great approach area for raids on the U.S.

News Reports Omit Details of Plans

The defence department puts the case for secrecy this way:

Because of the limited range of each radar station, it is just as bad to say what we haven't got as to say what we have got. The Russians are just as interested in where we haven't got stations as where we have them or intend to have them.

Canadian newspapers have already been asked to omit mention of any new radar construction in their areas. Reporters are being asked to skip mention of stories pinning the scope of the screen down in any detail.

The Canadian Northwest, formerly a wide-open vulnerable area, will be pin-pointed with radar stations.

The radar network will give protection to a triangular area comprising Winnipeg, Edmonton and Vancouver.

Defence plans include a strong air force, along with a well-trained army of technical experts, fully versed in the unique circumstances of northern operations.

Says Canada May Be Aerial Battleground

According to Brig.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, federal co-ordinator of civil defence, Canada may well be an "aerial battleground" should another war come.

It is believed Edmonton will be relatively safe in the event of another war, particularly from atomic attack.

An atomic bomb in Edmonton could hardly do more damage than conventional bombs, and it is reasoned that an enemy would not use expensive atomic bombs on such targets. The western powers are also watching what Russia is doing in the north.

Ottawa believes Russia has organized three Polar armies, totalling about 25 divisions. As usual, the Soviets are concentrating on sheer numbers in contrast to the western concept of small, technically-trained forces.

The first Polar army is thought to be headquartered at Murmansk, poised for an attack on Scandinavia, in the event of war. The second army is stationed at Igarka, a new Soviet city in northern Siberia. The third army is also located in Siberia, ready to launch an attack through the Aleutians and Alaska.

Finally, shaken to the core, you snarl at your loved ones to go away. They are forced to agree that this is an excellent idea and so you make the rounds again for the final embraces.

At this juncture you have become cynical about all warnings. Indeed, the dark suspicion is forming in your mind that it is all a hoax and the train is never going to leave.

You turn your back on the train and stoop down to comfort the child, breaking the icicles from its little nose. At that instant there is a horrified shout. The train has begun to slide noiselessly by.

With a hoarse cry of alarm you scramble awkwardly down the platform. The porter, standing by the steps, grabs you by the arm, saying you from certain death under the wheels. Somewhere in the back of your mind is the knowledge that you have made the most comical, ungraceful exit in the history of railroading.

MRS. PAUL MARI is seen proudly holding her two-weeks-old son, Paul Jr., born in Winnipeg. Mrs. Mari and her doctor-husband fled their home in China to come to Canada so that their baby could be born in a free country.

THIS GROUP of little children at the Cerebral Palsy Clinic in Edmonton are typical of those receiving the assistance made possible by your purchase of Easter Seals. At the clinic the kiddies, once doomed to an unnatural life, lacking in dreams and hopes, are receiving the care and treatment that is putting them on the road to happy, worthwhile and normal lives. The Easter Seal campaign is now in progress throughout northern Alberta.

Cripple Children May Soon Lead Normal, Happy Lives

Something is being done for the crippled children of Alberta. Now, thousands of youngsters suffering from a variety of disabilities are being led back to normal and happy lives.

In Edmonton prime attention is being focussed on the new Cerebral Palsy Clinic at 10560 105

St. Children from all over northern Alberta are being treated there for spastic paralysis.

The affliction is caused through injury to the motor centres of the brain, sustained either at birth or in an accident. Speech and movement of limbs is often rendered impossible to kiddies with this tragic affliction.

However, through treatment available at the Cerebral Palsy clinic the children are on the road to recovery. Doctors say that the intelligence of the children is often above normal, despite their almost hopeless handicap.

The clinic is sponsored by the South Side Kiwanis club. Supervisor is Dr. Fred Day.

The Kiwanis club and the Associated Canadian Travellers have joined forces to sponsor this year's Easter Seal campaign.

Chairman of the Easter Seal Committee is Dr. George Shott, himself a cripple as a child.

All proceeds from the sale of Easter Seals are ear-marked for the aid of crippled children such as those in the Cerebral Palsy clinic.

Sale of Easter Seals in support of crippled children in Alberta has unearthed many stories of stark tragedy in many Alberta homes. Letters and note accompanying dollar and two-dollar bills mailed to campaign headquarters are daily unfolding a story of suffering, not only by the children affected but by their brothers, sisters and parents as well.

Nearly $30,000 has been raised to date

Enclosed with each sheet of Easter Seals was an appeal letter. On the reverse side was a picture of Robbie, a little lad suffering from cerebral palsy. Robbie has touched the heart strings of many.

A brother and sister at Grouard, contributed fifty cents each "to help the little child in the picture." Many others expressed hope that Robbie and hundreds of others suffering from a similar ailment would benefit from this campaign.

Those who have not yet sent in their contribution to the Easter Seal Committee, Box 900, Edmonton, are urged to do so now.

IN OUR TOWN

Inside News and Views of Growing Edmonton

By RAYMOND ARGYLE

While we can't vouch for this report, there's a rumor in Our Town that there's a direct relationship between the number of baldheaded men walking our streets and the increases in taxes the federal, provincial and municipal governments are extracting from us.

Seems that people just can't help tearing their hair out when income tax time rolls around.

If you're in a dilemma this year about how you're going to pay off debt to the government, we'd suggest you do one of four things:

(A) Tell your boss to send your check to the government every week and go on relief. (B) Quit working and live by your wits (you'll make more anyway). (C) Plead with your boss not to pay you so much so you won't have to worry about your annual grant to the government. (D) Get yourself committed to a mental institute, jail, or some other safe place away from the worries of this world.

If you're in a dither over this income tax business, your condition, whether you know it or not, is due to Federal laws, Municipal laws, Town laws, By-laws, Liquor laws, Mothers-in-law, Sisters-in-law, Brothers-in-law, and Out-laws.

Through these laws you are compelled to pay a business tax, school tax, head tax, gas tax, light tax, water tax, sales tax, liquor tax, income tax, food tax, furniture tax, carpet tax, and excise tax. By now even your brains must be taxed.

You're also required to get a business license, car license, truck license, liquor license, not to mention dog license, fishing license, and marriage license.

You're also compelled to contribute to every society and organization which the genus man is capable of bringing into life. To women's relief, unemployment relief and the gold-digger relief; also to every hospital and charitable institution in the city, including the Red Cross, Blue Cross, Black Cross and the Double Cross.

And for your own safety you must carry life insurance, property insurance, liability insurance, business insurance, tornado insurance, old-age insurance, and unemployment insurance.

If you run a business it's probably so governed that you do not know nor can you find out who owns it. If you're like other people you're inspected, expected, suspected, rejected, disrespected, examined, re-examined, informed, required, summoned, fined, commanded and compelled until you provide an inexhaustible supply of money for every need, desire and hope of the human race.

And if you refuse to donate to to pay your bills, you're boycotted, something or other, or are unable talked about, lied about, held up, held down, and robbed until you're almost ruined.

By now you're wondering how I survive all this. I can honestly tell you except for a miracle which happened the other day I wouldn't be able to pay my income tax. You see the Wolf that comes to my door every day just had pups so I sold them and sent the government its money.

PERSONALITY PARADE: A who is just finishing his first winter in Edmonton (what an experience!) is Al Richardson, assistant farm broadcast commentator with the CBC here.

AL RICHARDSON

... on the air
Al is heard daily on the Alberta Farm Broadcast at 12:15 p.m. over CDK. He's been with the CBC since March, 1950, moved here last October.

PILLAGERS: That plane which crashed near Calgary, February 7, killing its three occupants disappeared twice, once before it crashed and again after it was first located.

The Cessna aircraft was located February 9, and was placed under guard during investigation by the Department of Transport On February 11, investigation completed, guards were taken off the plane.

The following day the aircraft disappeared again. Nothing was left, not even an "X" to mark the spot. This second disappearance was not due to mechanical failure or weather conditions but to a flock of man vultures, like vultures of the desert swooping down on the dead and carrying off bits of their prey.

Authorities have since recovered the greater portion of the aircraft ... but not all of it. Jail terms may be in the offing for those who retain parts of the plane.

Redwater Home and School Backs Plans for Health Unit

Inoculations and vaccinations for children was Dr. H. R. MacPhail's subject of an address when he spoke to the Redwater Home and School Association's last meeting.

His address dealt with the necessity of using this method of preventing whooping cough, diphtheria and smallpox among children. He went on to explain how the injections work in the body and how simple it was to administer inoculations and vaccinations.

Mrs. Jessie Craig acted as chairman in the absence of J. Pace.

In an effort to organize a health unit a meeting has been called at Redway for Wednesday. An invitation has been received by the Redwater Home and School Association to send a representative to discuss this important subject.

Speaker at the meeting will be Dr. Seimens of the Edmonton Rural Health Unit. It is also expected that representatives from the neighboring towns of Egmont and Thorlind will be present.

The necessity of having a health unit to serve the district is easily recognized by parents. Such a unit checks children's health at the schools regularly and gives inoculations and vaccinations. Reports on the child's health is sent to the parents, and where it is thought necessary medical treatment is advised. The importance of regular inoculations and vaccinations cannot be too strongly stressed.

Fire Put Out Before Damage Done

A fire which originated from an overheated stove pipe in Tom Coley's general store was put out by a lone fireman, Albert St. Arnault, employee at the time, not by a crew of firemen as reported in the Edmonton Journal.

No one was in sight at the time and no time could be spared to go to the fire alarm. Albert was able to operate the fire extinguisher to stop the flames from spreading.

It is strange how news gets twisted.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hart Name South Side Store

From among over 500 entries submitted for the Name the Store Contest the name suggested by Mr. and Mrs. George Hart was named best.

The store on the south side of Redwater will now be known as the Good Food Grocery. Not only has the store a new name but it also has one that can be made unique in that the names of the owners Gregg and Flett can easily be incorporated into the title.

Official opening of the store took place Monday and was marked by free movies for the children. The shows presented at the Deric Theatre were specially designed for children's entertainment.

A rebel Social Creditor who has launched the Anti-Communist League of Canada is urging that the Red movement be outlawed in Canada.

Ronald Gostick, of Toronto, made this statement before the Junior Chamber of Commerce in Edmonton recently.

Gostick declared that a "vast majority" of the 24 persons accused of subversive activities in Canada's 1946 spy trials were "non-Christian Canadians." Mr. Gostick added that his listeners should work closely with the RCMP to uncover further subversive activities.

After giving a history of the Communist movement Mr. Gostick concluded that Communism has little appeal for "Christian peoples of any country."

RED DEER AlbertaLETTER TO LOUISA*Young Mother Is Worried
By Husband's Irresponsibility

Dear Louisa:—I am 19 years old and am married to a boy the same age.

We have been married two years and have a baby. Ever since the baby came, my husband has been leaving me alone at night and going out by himself. He goes to movies and even to parties, while I sit home and nurse. He says he is not going to tie himself down and not have any fun. And here lately he has hardly been giving me any money to run the house with or to buy clothes. I am all upset and am thinking of going home to my mother. She didn't want me to get married anyway.

What would you advise?

L. B.

Answer:

It is pathetic for children to marry so young—before they are ready for the responsibilities and sacrifices that matrimony entails. Neither you nor your husband had had your playtime before you married, but you probably refused to listen to your parents when they advised you to wait until you were older. You got your way and now you are paying for it.

I see no future in such a life for you, unless you two have a show-down. Whatever money he makes over your living expenses should go in savings and recreation for you both. If he has been going out several times a week, he can take the same amount that he has been spending, hire a responsible person to stay with the baby, and take you out for one evening. Other evenings can be spent reading, listening to the radio, playing games and doing a little inexpensive entertaining at home.

I hate to advise any wife to leave her husband but if your husband will not agree to some such plan and insists on behaving as he is doing, I should advise you to go home and to try and get a job. LOUISA.

Wealthy Publisher Pleads Guilty to Assault Count

BANFF. — A member of the wealthy Southam publishing family, owners of the Edmonton Journal, Calgary Herald, and five other Canadian daily newspapers, pleaded guilty to a charge of assault in police court here last week.

He is John Southam, publisher of the Calgary Herald.

Southam was fined $10 and costs for assaulting Banff photographer Bill Gibbons.

Mr. Gibbons revealed to this paper that he intends suing Southam for slander if he can "find a lawyer to handle the case."

The charge arose out of a

"brawl" in the Banff cafe when Southam struck Gibbons after, according to Gibbons, "verbally abusing him for 20 minutes."

Mr. Gibbons said that Southam told him he would personally see to it that Gibbons would never get another picture in any Canadian newspaper or magazine.

According to Mr. Gibbons, Southam's ill-feeling goes back about four years to an occasion when the two were skiing on a Banff mountain.

At that time Southam allegedly threatened to throw Gibbons "off the mountain."

Mr. Gibbons told this paper he had three witnesses to the brawl in the Banff cafe.

Southam was allegedly taken out of the cafe by the police, but instead of taking him to jail, they drove him to his hotel.

The Banff photographer pressed charges against Southam and he was haled into court.

Banff Chief of Police Broadway confirmed that Southam pleaded guilty to the assault charge.

The facts of the case have been suppressed by the daily papers.

NEW BOSS of Canada's third largest car business is Edgar Charles Row, new president of the Chrysler Corporation at Windsor. Under Row's direction, Chrysler has thrown $12,000,000 into its Canadian expansion plot, is now turning out as many cars as possible before military orders start rolling in.

Says British Socialists 'Let Down' Western Farmers

"The present Socialist government in Britain has let us us down," a well-known Alberta M.P. said this week in regard to the British-Canadian wheat agreement.

J. W. Welbourn, Liberal MP for Jasper-Edson, told this paper "it is evident that the British government has failed to live up to its moral obligations to western Canada under the 'have regard' clause in the agreement."

Mr. Welbourn said he was disappointed with the amount; the final payment of 8.3 cents per bushel as announced in parliament.

He said that "had the British government assumed its full obligations, the Canadian farmer would have received much nearer the figure that he is justly entitled to."

"We in Canada, particularly the Canadian farmer, did everything possible to help the British people when they were in dire need of help," he said.

Mr. Welbourn added that "the Liberal government, appreciating the fact that the western farmers had not been given a fair deal, have made available $65 million, which sum will be added to the final payment of the 1945-49 pool."
